

Rome: Myth and History Activity

Objective: in this work you will be learning about Ancient Rome. You will be using various videos and the Britannica website in order to accomplish the exercises.

First of all watch this short video to learn about the myth of how Rome was founded by two brothers, Romulus and Remus:

Now study this article to learn more about the brothers (it is set to reading level 1, if this is too easy for you, try reading level 2) and respond to the exercises which follow in complete sentences. Remember, you should write your own sentences, do not copy from the article since you will lose many points:
